

PolarWave Snowtubing Group Attendance Agreement

Groups of 100+ Snowtubers or Matched Groups of 100+

PolarWave cannot open the park for any group of less than 100 guaranteed participants.

- Groups of 100+: If the final number of snowtubers at check-in is less than 100, the group is required to pay for the balance of the tickets to make 100 in order for the group event to be held.
- Matching Groups: Each group of a matching pair must commit to having a certain number of participants and the total of all groups for that event must be no less than 100. Each group must pay for the amount of tickets they committed to, even if their attendance on the day of the event comes up short. Groups will be asked to confirm this commitment in writing in order to reserve a group of 100+ snowtubers.
- If the group(s) cannot commit to enough total people to guarantee 100 confirmed participants, they can add another group (if one can be found), or pay for the extra tickets, or the event cannot be reserved.
- If a group leader sees that the number they have committed to will be short in attendance, they must let PolarWave know at least 3 days before the event what they intend to do about the shortage. If 100 total participants cannot be guaranteed, the event may need to be canceled.
- The group has the option of fulfilling the commitment or canceling the event (this will cancel the event for any/all groups if they are matched up for this event).

Please fax this completed and signed agreement to PolarWave at 585-247-2845.

I understand that PolarWave must be guaranteed 100 paid participants to open the park at a special time for any group.

My group will commit to _____ participants or purchase tickets to equal this amount if our attendance is less than this number.

I understand that if our group attendance is short, our group has the option to fulfill the committed number of tickets or cancel the event and that canceling the event will terminate the entire event for any/all other groups matched up for the event (unless they can guarantee 100 total snowtubers).

I understand that we must notify PolarWave at least three days in advance to advise of our intention if our group attendance will be short on the day of the event.
